Home Heating from

Hot new Rayburn colours for 2018

Six new shades means there's now a Rayburn in a colour to suit every kitchen and every design scheme...

Rayburn is delighted to announce the addition of six gorgeous new colours to its range. From beautiful pastels to stronger statement colours, there is a shade to suit every kitchen.

The cast-iron Rayburn – made by AGA – has been at the heart of many homes for decades. There are cooker only models, others in the range that can provide hot water and models that can provide hot water and central heating.

The cooker features the largest rectangular cast-iron hotplate on the market and cast-iron ovens*. Together, they help create mouth-watering dishes. What's more, with the added convenience of having all your heating, hot water and cooking in one, you can use the extra space for other appliances or just to give you more room in the kitchen.

Whether you have a traditional kitchen or have gone for a sleek and modern look there is a Rayburn cooker that will work perfectly for you. The new colours are available across the range at no extra cost until March 1st. After that date, these colour options will be priced at £300.
